

Cheng-Wen Chiang

Cathay General Hospital
Taiwan

Education:

Department of Medicine, College of Medicine, National Taiwan University, 1964-1971

Professional Experience:

- (1). President of Asian Pacific Society of Cardiology. 2009-2011
- (2). Vice-President 2 of WFUMB. 2011-2013

Honors & Awards:

- (1). Best Medical Physician Award, Chang Gung Memorial Hospital, 1977.
- (2). Cheng-Hsin Medical Award, Medical Association of Taiwan, 1979.
- (3). Long Ting Award, Taiwan Society of Cardiology, 2001.

Dr. Cheng-Wen Chiang is currently Professor of Cardiology in Cathay General Hospital. Taipei. He graduated from Medical College of Taiwan National University in 1971. His major research interests are echocardiography and interventional cardiology. He has published more than 140 peer-reviewed articles in internationally renowned journals and has received Best Physician Award from Chang Gung Memorial Hospital, Cheng-Hsin Medical Award from Taiwan Medical Association and Long Ting Award from Taiwan Society of Cardiology. In cardiology communities, he had been President of Taiwan Society of Cardiology (2005-2007), President of Asian Pacific Society of Cardiology (2009-2011) and Board Member of World Heart Federation (2009-2013). In ultrasound communities, he had served as President of Taiwan Society of Ultrasound in Medicine (1994-1996), President of Asian Federation of Societies for Ultrasound in Medicine & Biology (2007-2010), Vice-President of World Federation of Ultrasound in Medicine and Biology (2011-2013) and Chairman of the 16th WFUMB Congress, Oct 13-17, 2017, Taipei, Taiwan.