

Chih-Kuang Yeh PhD

National Tsing Hua University
Taiwan

Education: Doctor of Philosophy, Electrical Engineering, National Taiwan University, Taipei

Professional Experience:

August 2015 – present Distinguished Professor, Department of Biomedical Engineering and Environmental Sciences, National Tsing Hua University, Hsinchu, Taiwan

August 2012 – present Professor, Department of Biomedical Engineering and Environmental Sciences, National Tsing Hua University, Hsinchu, Taiwan

August 2009 – July 2012 Associate Professor, Department of Biomedical Engineering and Environmental Sciences, National Tsing Hua University, Hsinchu, Taiwan

August 2005 – July 2009 Assistant Professor, Department of Biomedical Engineering and Environmental Sciences, National Tsing Hua University, Hsinchu, Taiwan

Honors & Awards:

Distinguished Professor, National Tsing Hua University, August, 2015-present

Teaching Excellence Award, National Tsing Hua University, June, 2015.

Industry/University Cooperative Research Award, National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan, November, 2014.

Academic Achievement Award, National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan, 2009-2017.

Chih-Kuang Yeh was born in 1973 in Taiwan. He received his Ph.D. degree in electrical engineering from National Taiwan University, Taipei, Taiwan in 2004, respectively. He joined Professor Katherine Ferrara's research group in the University of California at Davis as a visiting researcher from 2003 to 2004. In 2005, he joined the Department of Biomedical Engineering and Environmental Sciences, National Tsing Hua University, Hsinchu, Taiwan. He now is a distinguished professor at National Tsing Hua University. His current research interests include ultrasound theranostics and ultrasound-mediated drug/gene delivery