

Meng Yang MD

Peking Union Medical College Hospital
Chinese Mainland

Professional Experience

Peking Union Medical College Hospital, China, Beijing

2015.10-present Associate professor, Department of Ultrasonography

2006.9-2014.8 Attending Doctor, Department of Ultrasonography

2000.8-2006.8 Resident training, Department of Radiology

Stanford University

2011.2-2012.1 Visiting Scholar & RA, MIPS & Department of Radiology

Clinical Skills

Perform clinical research on microbubble contrast imaging since 2007, focused on the clinical research of novel ultrasound technology in thyroid and breast disease

Three years experience for HIFU treatment in pancreatic cancer, liver cancer and gynecologic diseases

Six years experience in the research of molecular imaging, focusing on multi-modality imaging contrast design and application, especially for targeted imaging toward tumor specific biomarkers

One year experience in the clinical translational study of dual modality Ultrasound/Photoacoustic imaging in thyroid, breast and gynecological disease.

Clinical Research and Publications

Grants and Funding as Principal Investigator: 5

Grants and Funding Participant: 10

Peer-reviewed papers (in English): 15 papers, total IF 71.1